Former Senator and Assembly Minority Leader Bill Leonard: "California's Capitol Commission and Pastor Frank Erb are absolutely necessary inside the State Capitol. As a former legislator I know that the halls and office of the Capitol can be the loneliest places around. Legislators often do not share their pains or personal crisis because of fear. Frank lets them know that Jesus is listening and loves them. The weekly Bible study offers legislators and staff a break from politics and an opportunity to focus on the eternal. I encourage everyone to support this ministry with their prayers and their resources."

Former Assemblyman and Assembly Minority Leader Martin Garrick: "In the State Capitol, Pastor Frank Erb earnestly encourages the legislators who attend his weekly Bible study. The spiritual support he provides through the inspiration of the Word helps us honor God and remain strong for those we serve."

Senator, Senate Minority Leader, Bob Huff: "Chaos and distraction from God come with elected office. Pastor Frank Erb helps provide a refreshing pause during the week, with spiritual support and nourishment that helps keep us elected officials better grounded in God's word."

Senator Jean Fuller: "Frank Erb's discernment, his strict focus on the biblical Word, and his desire to help me continue trying to live the life that God has planned for me is a gift from God."

Assemblyman Cameron Smyth: "During my time in the Legislature, I have come to count on Pastor Frank Erb and Capitol Commission as I work through the many challenges, both personal and professional, I face in the State Capitol. Frank's candor and ability to apply scripture to everyday life have made him an invaluable part of the Capitol community and I am proud to call him a friend."

Assemblyman Dan Logue: "Frank Erb of Capitol Commission is performing a valuable service to legislators in Sacramento by providing necessary spiritual support that assists us in keeping our priorities straight."

Senator and U.S. Congressman-elect Juan Vargas: "Pastor Frank Erb of Capitol Commission has allowed me to keep Jesus first and foremost in my heart and mind while at the Capitol."
